

YOUR NAME: _____

Make a brochure advertising the book you have read. The brochure must be written to convince someone to read the book. It must include the following:

1. The title of the book
2. The author's name
3. A description of the setting or place for the story
4. Pictures related to the book
5. A description of the main character's problem or challenge
6. A star rating, with one star meaning "not good" and five stars meaning "awesome"
7. A description of what you learned from the book or what it meant to you
8. The reasons why someone should or should not read the book
9. Vocabulary section where you DISSECT 10 difficult words you encountered while reading including the page number from the book where each word was found

YOU MUST TURN IN THIS SHEET WITH YOUR PROJECT.

RUBRIC	I'm not there yet (1 pt.)	I'm getting there (3 pts.)	I'm there now (5 pts.)
Information about the book	My response lacks specific information from each chapter in the book. My reader will not have enough information to decide about reading it.	My response includes some information about the book. However, my reader will need more information to decide about reading it.	My response includes enough detailed information about the book to help my reader decide about reading it.
Reasoning	My reasoning for why someone should or should not read my book needs more to make it more convincing.	My reasoning for why someone should or should not read my book is okay.	My reasoning for why someone should or should not read my book is convincing.
Spelling, grammar and punctuation	I did not check my work and there are many spelling, grammar, and/or punctuation errors.	I checked my work but I missed a few spelling, grammar, and/or punctuation errors.	I completely checked my work and it is well written with no errors in spelling, grammar, or punctuation.
Neatness and effort	I did not put forth my best effort so my brochure is not the best they can be.	My brochure is fairly readable but the neatness and effort does not show my best work.	My brochure is neat and easy to read.
Completeness of information	I included few of the items in the directions.	I included less than half of the items in the directions.	I included all of the items in the directions.